

MEDIA CONTACT: Andrew Hannan
PublicRelations@ACPRail.com

BRITRAIL OFFERS FREE TRAVEL DAY ON POPULAR BRITRAIL PASSES PROMOTION RUNS FROM APRIL 15 THROUGH JUNE 1 2009

COMBINE EXTRA DAY WITH BRITRAIL DISCOUNTED PASSES FOR EXTRA VALUE

NEW YORK, NEW YORK APRIL 01, 2009 Buy an economical BritRail Pass and get one extra day of travel – absolutely free! BritRail is offering this exceptional deal to travelers who purchase any of their most popular products: the BritRail Consecutive Pass, BritRail FlexiPass, BritRail England Consecutive Pass, BritRail England FlexiPass or BritRail Freedom of Scotland Travelpass. Vacationers can choose any validity period and opt to travel in either first or standard class. The BritRail Pass must be purchased between April 15 and June 1, 2009. It can be used anytime within 6 months of its issue date.

And you can combine this free extra-day of travel offer with BritRail's promotional Passes, which makes this an even better deal. The free extra-day promotion will be applied to the BritRail Party Pass (50% off third through ninth person in group), BritRail Family Pass (one child per adult travels free), BritRail Senior Pass (15% off in first class), BritRail Youth Pass (20% off in first or standard) and the BritRail Guest Pass (25% off for you and a British resident).

BritRail 's newly redesigned website - www.BritRail.com - makes it simple to figure out what pass is most suitable for your itinerary and order it with a simple click or two.

Want to travel extensively throughout the UK with the 'all-access' version of the pass, or concentrate on exploring just England or only Scotland? That extra free day will give you the time to go that little bit further and discover parts of Britain you thought you'd never have time to visit. For example, a short 2-hour train journey from London can transport you to undiscovered gems – like the compact principality of mystical Wales or the impressive cathedral city of Ely.

Everybody wins when you use a BritRail Pass. You save money and you save the environment because train travel is 'green travel': Trains emit 50% less Green House gases per passenger kilometer than cars; 25% of the Green House gases compared to a plane traveling the same distance.

Remember that BritRail Passes are not available in Britain. Buy before you fly! Visit your local travel agent or contact BritRail on 1 866 BRITRAIL or at visit the spiffed up website: www.BritRail.com.